

Pointer Remote - Work Transformation

SixFive provides Google Workspace configuration, best practice advice and training.

The challenge

Pointer Remote were struggling with the multitude of platform choices and tools available to a small business. The challenge was to consolidate tech systems and processes within the business, reduce costs, increase efficiency of the team and provide one central platform for productivity.

The solution

Google Workspace implemented in the business, migrating data from other tools/platforms and streamlining operation. Training provided to assist with getting the best out of Google Workspace, and best practice advice about security and operation.

The results

Pointer Remote has confidence in knowledgeable, accessible and reliable tech support when we need it. Tech jargon and support made clear for everyday understanding through a friendly support team - this gives us more confidence in the tools we use. Productivity is up because we no longer jump between tools for tasks, and do not have to duplicate work between platforms.

“ SixFive has built confidence in my company that the tech in our organisation is setup effectively, safely and securely. I know that I can leave that part of my business to experts who are supporting my company so I can do the things I'm good at! ”
